

Integra Client Appreciation Event Deemed a Success!

On June 28th, 2007 Integra Insurance Services held its first client appreciation event at the J. Lohr's beautiful winery off The Alameda in San Jose. John Lococo, Financial Planner for individuals and business owners, spoke about how Integra's valued commercial insurance clients can Secure Retirement Through Their Business.

"Many of our valued commercial clients have asked us about how they can maximize their retirement planning by leveraging the value of their business", comments Ryan Fenchel, Principal of Integra Insurance Services, "Many business owners just don't have the time and professional resources to focus on the many options available to them. We thought what better way to support our clients than to offer a seminar series on this all important topic".

During the event guests were treated to delicious food and wine pairings from J. Lohr's award winning wine collection.

For more information about Integra Insurance Services please visit www.integra-insurance.com

###